GAUTAMA BUDDHA -

Modern science has smashed the materialism of the last century, and given us a universe of a higher dimension than that contemplated by their predecessors. It is a universe which allows every man to believe in every spiritual and philosophical possibility his mind is capable of conceiving. Man is now compelled to believe in the existence of God, if only because the mechanized alternative of the old materialists has ceased to exist for science. In the light of the new knowledge "all we have hoped or dreamed of good" can exist.

The scientists have now realized that they can furnish no explanations of any physical happening. Their function is confined to basing on those happenings formulae which facilitate prediction, but do not profess to explain anything. But this limitation has resulted in a magically enlarged science. The seats of learning in which the various forms of science are taught plod along in the old materialistic tradition in which most of them were founded.

Their students are turned out in the belief that no scientific revolution has happened. They believe that the modern transcendental basis of science is a normal development of the old materialism, and that they are safe in assuming that the outlook on the universe which it taught has little need of revision. This is supported by the new scientific philosophy called Operationalism. In effect this philosophy forbids scientists to use any scientific truth as the basis of an argument in favor of any form of either religion or philosophy.

Two thousand years ago Christ spoke of the kingdom that is not of this world. The modern scientist recognizes a continuum that is not of this world. Of course they are both saying the same thing.

The great weakness of the Communists is precisely their science. They are committed to the old materialism in its crudest form. What they are now trying to do, since they cannot deny the new knowledge, is to have it ignored in respect of its implications. This is the point to which attack should be consistently directed.

Borderland Science (or B.Sc. for convenience) is as old as the history of human thinking processes and progress. The first individuals who dared to deviate from ordinary modes of thinking and conceived such milestones of progress as the bow and arrow, fire making, the wheel, the boat and so on, were and had to be the B-scientists of their day.

What is B-science? It is that range and process of advanced and fearless thinking which is concerned with timely and necessary deviations from firmly established and 'respectable' science and formal rules of logic and research - the out-of-the-groove thinking; deviations which have always blazed the trails of progress into and beyond known horizons of knowledge. B-scientists are the commandos of research who establish beachheads of illumination on the borderland of the unknown. Though all that man can ever know of the cosmic scene is the tiniest of islands in the sea of infinity, yet the B-science of today is expanding that island's frontiers toward limits which as yet baffle definition.

Borderland Science falls roughly into two main categories: (1) An advance guard of unorthodox thinking, in any and all of the established and 'official' sciences, which is concerned with the processes outlined above. These relatively small but potent groups, probing within and ahead of 'orthodox' investigation, are responsible for practically all scientific and technological progress to date. (2) Those few categories of advanced investigation which can rightfully be classed as separate B-sciences, with objectives distinctly their own. And the B-science of today, be it noted, is the accepted orthodox science of tomorrow - after its pioneers have battled the opposition to a standstill.

In the transition of a B-science to an orthodox one, there is often a surprising phenomenon. Many of those who opposed it with the most vigor and venom hurriedly scramble onto the bandwagon and proclaim that it was they who made the new science what it is. They give each other testimonial dinners, with the backing of learned institutions with high-sounding names. Many and noble are the speeches made at these historic affairs, while those who contributed the basic ideas and efforts are ignored. It is these pioneers who often do not possess, and never receive degrees and distinctions, though these may be conferred on any notable political personage who may happen to be present.

One classic example of a B-science evolving into a great and accepted one is the case of Alchemy, which has become the nuclear physics of today, and is revolutionizing our concepts of the processes of life. A science in which billions of dollars are invested, and over which the nations of the world are wrangling for advantageous control. A science which even in its embryonic stage has leveled two oriental cities into radioactive dust. The daring researches and gropings of the alchemists have mutated into the science of present-day chemistry, and from chemistry came the study and initial control of atomic energy. Now, nuclear physics textbooks deal glibly with alchemical equations and transmutations beyond the wildest dreams of those B-scientists of past centuries.

A B-science begins to take on the status of an orthodox science, to the degree to which its inheritors regard it as a more or less fixed and standardized realm of knowledge. And when, all too soon, an orthodox science becomes petrified to a point where new ideas are resisted and ridiculed, it is an indication of the high need for B-scientists to take over, and in the face of opposition raise it to a higher level of understanding and usefulness. This is a cyclic process.

The chief stock in trade, or tools of research and progress of the B-scientist are such factors, plus the ability to use them, as "educated guesses", "hunches", intuition processes, experiments which "do not make sense", some new rule of logic which may be of the B-scientist's own creation, an analogy shrewdly borrowed from another realm of science, or a clever generalization. Above all, the B-scientist is ever eager and willing to make proper use of those realms of the so-called occult and metaphysical which are logically sound and have been properly debunked of fraudulent and twisted concepts. There is a considerable and growing roster of great names in science, of men who achieved what they did because, in critical moments of research, they did not disdain to utilize principles of a metaphysical or 'occult' type. Under other and more 'respectable' designations such methods of research are now being more and more resorted to, as a matter of course.

Every orthodox scientist, if or when he wants to make real progress, or has to extricate himself from some blind alley of research thinking, must sooner or later fall back upon a trail blazed by B-science - or else with the help of B-science principles strike out into uncharted seas of thought for himself. But not all orthodox scientists, when driven to this expedient, will admit it to others - sometimes not even to themselves. Too many of them fear to refer to such matters among their fellows for fear of 'losing face' - of impairing their position and prestige. There are also those die-hards who do not believe, apparently, that anything should be said or done for the first time. They are zealous purveyors of mildewed ideas, ingenious splitters of hairs and jugglers of nebulous irrelevancies and ambiguities. Above and beyond them, they truly believe, there is nothing but intellectual darkness.

One of the greatest triumphs of research to date, the development of the atomic bomb and the advance in nuclear physics, is largely if not entirely due to B-science methods of research. For proof of this it is only necessary to refer to the famous and official Smyth Report on the Development of Atomic Energy for Military Purposes. It will be noted that time and again, when the scientists in charge were confronted with a blind alley of research stagnation and failure, and a two billion dollar investment was at stake, they forged ahead by using their intuition and making 'educated guesses', with regard to which of several possible and equally costly courses of action to pursue.

However, as is often the case, these modes of progress were resorted to only in the heat of necessity and creation. After the Manhattan Project, by modern alchemical methods and a measure of B-science, had achieved the atomic bomb and increased the knowledge of nuclear phenomena, petrification of thought began to set in. A mental rigor mortis is almost inevitable, wherever red tape and unwieldy officialdom set up an empire outside the real interests of the people.

When this new but now orthodox science began to tackle the problems of the intrinsic nature of atoms and the forces thereof, in terms of cosmic radiations, mesons and the like, it floated into a weird never-never land in which 'orthodox' scientific reasoning appears to make little or no sense. This impasse is beautifully expounded in "The Strange Story of the Quantum", by the mathematician Banesh Hoffman. To read this is to realize how orthodox science has been pushed by sheer necessity to the very verge of metaphysics, if not of occultism.

General Eisenhower (even though unwittingly) paid a great tribute to B-science research thinking. In May, 1947, he announced the establishment of a special Board of three young officers, picked for "aptitude and brains", and dedicated to the task of "making educated guesses on what war will be like 25 years from now." The General stated then, "I want them to give me the wildest sort of guesses." With all due respect to the General and his trio of science-seers, I venture to suggest that if and when the powers that be are in earnest about B-science methods, they may do well to make contact with those who have, so to speak, made science of them - a work in which Borderland Research Associates have specialized and are forging ahead unlike any other group in this country.

In connection with the achievements of Borderland methods and discoveries, I cannot close this paper without reference to the psychology and healing techniques of HUNA, brilliantly set forth in the "Secret Science Behind Miracles" of Max Freedom Long (a Co-Director of the B-Science Associates). When the logical principles of this miracle-working practical "magic" are understood, their application will be seen as almost limitless, in all of the healing Arts and in every aspect of daily life and thought. For HUNA is the classic of the Borderland Sciences, with an offering of incredible power and richness of service. It is worth while to reflect, that by no stretch of imagination could this wealth have been uncovered through the methods and concepts of official, orthodox and pedestrian sciences - but only by a Borderland pioneer and a fearless and independent spirit of research.

INTERPLANE COMMUNICATION

As most of our Associates are probably aware, a number of our members carry on investigations through 'psychics' and 'mediums' in whom they have reason to feel confidence. Such methods will certainly be considered legitimate and commonplace in the not-distant future (if Powers of Darkness do not wholly engulf us meanwhile), and it has always been a basic principle of our Borderland Science to utilize them, of course with proper caution and reserve. In the case of the Mark Probert mediumship particularly, we have printed, during the last five years, some thousands of pages. This material has been well, even enthusiastically received.

We have also received many communications from other mediums, via our Associates and from interested readers and friends. Many of these probably deserved much more attention that has been given them. But space is limited, and the time and strength of the Editors, and the bulk of the M.P. communications alone has been more than our office could handle in a clerical way. Also, the Directors have hesitated to venture very far abroad, where they did not have a firsthand intimate knowledge of the mediumship concerned, its history, attendant circumstances, methods employed and so on. This is mentioned here, because complaints sometimes come in, that too little attention is given to psychic material sent us, predictions and prophecies for the most part. But this apparent neglect is not a reflection on other mediums and the groups who work with them.

Lately, however, several Transcripts have been largely concerned with the remarkable experiences of "Dr. Kappa" - an occultist of high attainments and unquestionable integrity, who actually seems to be, at this writing, in personal contact with our visitors from Etheria. How this situation will develop, remains to be seen. But the relation of this information to the present world situation is of obvious importance, so that it has taken first place for the time being at least.

We have also received, from time to time, communications of much interest, reported by Regional Director H.M.W. of DeFuniak Springs, Florida, and obtained via a trance mediumship which our Associate has been studying for many months past. Other material is sent us by Regional Director Elsie R.K., of Miami*, and many Associates have been very helpful in a similar way.

Thus a great deal of interesting material comes in, but here at BSR Hdqrs. we have to neglect the mass of it and concentrate on what seems of special importance in present world affairs. Some of our friends are a little disappointed in this, and think we should give more space to the 'eternal' values' and spiritual attitudes in these distressful times. But there are a number of groups and publications devoted to that objective, and it does not seem to be the particular approach with which BSR has always been concerned. And our present interest in communications from students of mediumship and psychism is in correlation and comparison, and in checking with what we are told by the Probert Controls.

Once again, then - the fact that some BSR publication quotes statements from this or that 'supernormal' source, does not imply anything except that it seems interesting, and possibly valuable, and worth setting down 'for your information'. Our readers themselves must be responsible for any definite evaluation of data of this sort.

Excerpts from letter }
of Reg. Dir. HMW (Fla.) }
Dec. 1950 )

"I had a chance to ask about the "abductions" last night. Will give the results in cursive rather than dialogue form.

"Starting off by promising that if the answer should be such that a degree of secrecy would be desirable it would be put on record but not publicised, I stated that we have had reports of some twenty disappearances which had been tentatively laid to abduction of earth dwellers by beings from without the earth plane and that I would like information if available -- "

"My Communicator - the same one who predicted the coming of the Chinese (into the war) along with the cold and discomfiture of UN troops in Korea, at a time when such prediction seemed fantastic - said, 'Not carried off: that would be impossible. What happened is, that they came into contact with those beings on the physical plane and were disintegrated. Contact with these beings physically when unprepared must result in such effect. These Beings, whom you have been calling Etherians, and which is a good name, must themselves learn to contact earth dwellers without causing such action. They are experimenting. Except in unusual cases of individuals especially prepared for such contact it should be avoided. Telepathic contact can be had and in most cases would not be dangerous.' He also stated that some such contacts had been made."

(Check: with the singular experiences of Dr. Kappa - v. Transcripts 4 - 5 ff - with the data concerning 'atomic whirls' generally (cp. Fort, Book of the Damned) - with what can now be taken as certainty, that the "Discs" are or may be surrounded by some kind of powerful magnetic field, or field of radiant energy - with the stopping of airplane engines in the vicinity of the Discs (or so reported) - that this may in part account for the evasive tactics of the Discs and the lack of any (verified) close contact with earthlings. Yet, per contra, the Etherians have (we believe) visited earth many times throughout the whole history of our race, hence should have met the scientific problems of control of the 'rays' etc. - Per contra to this, the present Visitation may be by 'new' Etheric peoples "even from beyond the Via Lactea" -- But does not the Communicator go too far, saying, 'carried off would be impossible'? unless he knows all the types of Etherians now visiting our plane & their respective powers and limitations). (All parentheses are by ML).

"The Communicator passed then to the subject of earthquakes, said he had made a failure in setting the time for the California troubles. I replied that properly viewed it was not a failure; that the quake in the north part of the State had been given as the sounding of the gong, the further disturbances to follow thereafter. The Communicator went on to say that these disturbances will not be confined to the West but will be destructive in the East also (of the U.S.). The line of activity to follow along the region which suffered such heavy snowfall this fall. The Ohio Valley in particular and extending on both sides. (The New England States) would be shaken up but the great damage and loss of life would be along the river valley. "Watch for the floods to come, they will set the time; but it will be before apples blossom in the spring. These quakes to reach the Mississippi River at about the point which was sunk in the early 1800's. "It is not the purpose to kill of the people. You understand that. They will have warnings but most will refuse to believe." However, he admitted the riff-raff must be cleared away from both sides of life or there will be a tremendous explosion. "What is cancer" he asked, "but an explosion?"

"I had suggested to another communicator that the population would be greatly reduced, and he had replied, 'Now you are trying to get me to say something I don't want to say yet.'... My communicator last night, however, agreed that there will be a great reduction in the number of inhabitants. He advised to secure what articles of manufacture we may need as soon as possible, because not too far ahead they may be unobtainable. I asked if he referred to food supplies, and he said they will not yet be scarce, but utensils, machines and the like were meant.

"Changing the subject, he said 'Watch Russia.' (Re invasion via Siberia), 'not at this time. Perhaps later (1). But Stalin will soon pass over (2). He is not jittery and has good sense and has been able to keep control; but those who will take over after him are afraid; they have not his judgment and will at once start overflowing the nations of Europe. They are not fearful of America or England or the Atlantic Alliance but they are afraid of their own people, and to head off their own destruction will start the invasion the moment Stalin is gone.' (Q. by HMW. Will the Germans affiliate with the invaders) He laughed and said 'Does the corn team up with the millstone? The German nation is corn in the mill to be ground between opposing forces. The Western nations can never stand against the Russians as long as they fight by the book!.. With the exception of a few pockets the continent will be overrun in less than a month after the passing of Stalin.

"On seismic matters he forecasts se vere disturbances in Palestine and Persia, running up into the cneter of the European continent. Re the invasion again: it will probably begin before the death of Stalin is announced (not before it actually occurs).

(1) The Mark P. Controls asserted that an invasion of Alaska had been 'on the Communist time-table' for Christmas time, 1950 - but were careful to say it was not a certainty. (2) The impending death of Stalin also agrees with statements by the MP communicators. So too, concerning dangers of internal revolt in Russia. In essentials, the remarks of this Control agree well with the opinions expressed at San Diego but are more detailed. The matter of earthquakes in the Ohio Valley has not been mentioned at the Probert meetings).

(It should not be necessary to remind students of psychic and mediumistic matters, that Controls and communicators of all types are liable to suggestion from our side - i.e., public alarm, apprehension in official quarters and so on, may be picked up by 'entities' on astral and etheric levels and relayed to us as 'news' and 'predictions'. And of course, other-world folk who are not above such practises often make themselves important by posing as prophets of disaster, or startling events of various kinds. Also, in our own world we have many honest people of good will, who nevertheless are highly excitable, without poise or good judgment, who spread and magnify every whisper of disaster present or to come.

(This is by no means to discredit all such news from the Neant, but only to remind ourselves that our unseen informants are ordinary human beings like ourselves, and that consequently only a few of them are worth listening to concerning such things as wars and statecraft and global cataclysms, tho' in other ways they may be very helpful, and their motives above reproach. Our attitude here at BSR Hdqrs. is to listen carefully to all these 'voices', but at the same time to reserve judgment and guarantee nothing. And this, as I understand it, is precisely the attitude which the Mark Probert Controls have repeatedly advised, with respect to their own pronouncements as well as to all others).

(The alleged identity of a Communicator guarantees nothing. ALL identities are 'alleged' (as in our world also), and are incapable of 'proof' in any conclusive sense. And so far as can be determined, both great persons and small, on the other side, are subject to interference, imposition and deceit by enemies, just as they are on our own plane. Your Director, in company with several Associates, at one time spent several months on a project directed by excarnate persons bearing names of great distinction, only to encounter a whole series of blinds and veils contrived by adversaries from the so-called Astral - and which effectually put an end to the whole affair. The Great Ones confessed that they were worsted and could not break down the opposition, since they "could not determine who their opponents were." I mention this as illustrative of the great complexity of conditions affecting interplane communication, and which most of us know nothing about, but go on like peevish children demanding that their elders turn rain into sunshine.

The following is a theory of death which may also be a picture of the being we think we are.

We postulate the being of man as an indivisible whole. Call that BEING.

This Being consists of vector forces in a spiritual continuum. As such, it is formless but conditioned energy. The vectors are considered to be vibrations of various frequencies. These vibrations are in the form of stationary waves and (some) of moving waves. These waves have places of minimum and maximum action. In the places of minimum action, the node of the wave, it is possible to collect an amount of matter. The quantity and quality of matter thus collected will depend on the frequency, amplitude, and wave pattern of the particular wave.

Our Being is considered to consist of seven kinds of wave patterns. Four of these wave patterns are related by frequency to the four continuums of our M-space.

When this Being descends into the continuum of M-space the corresponding atoms of matter are drawn into the nodes of their related wave patterns. This action we will here call excitation. The excitation of matter by the presence of the Being in it is the material form of the Being.

While this Being exists in the spiritual continuum its forces are in a simple harmonic state. A modification of vibration pattern results in an excitation of the matter of the continuums.

When the Being withdraws from any continuum, the withdrawal is accomplished by a modification of its basic wave pattern. By this modification, excitation of the involved matter ceases. Because matter has the quality of inertia the impress of the excitation continues for a time, depending on the basic properties of the matter. The form is thus seen to continue for a while but without motivation. This persistent form is the corpse as we know it in the physical continuum.

The implication in this concept is that Being does not consist of a number of bodies or vehicles but is a complete and indivisible wholeness. That from which it separates at death was never any part of it, but is rather a response of the matter of a continuum to its presence in the continuum. Even so, unless the forces of the Being are so arranged the materials of a continuum will not respond, and there will be no excitation and no form.

I think this Being is the same as the Ego or Higher Self and the vector forces are the Archetype.

The form resulting from the excitation is derived from the plane and remains on it - somewhat as fluorescence remains after the exciting current is cut off.

- KOCH THERAPY -

B.S.R.A HQRS. is in receipt of the following Reprint from Department of Agriculture Report for 1949 (pp.20 to 25), printed in Victoria, B.C., and sent to us by D.H. Arnott, M.D., of London, Canada. Dr. Arnott has long been a distinguished figure in the struggle carried on by the KOCH TREATMENT against the persecution of the American Medical Association. The Reprint is entitled and consists of five large-size printed pages detailing the remarkable success that has attended the use of the Koch treatment in veterinary cases, and particularly in mastitis and other diseases of dairy cattle. The Department of Agriculture (Canadian) made a long investigation of the theory and practise of this treatment, and found that nearly all dairymen who had actually used or observed at first hand the glyoxylide injection, were most emphatic in their approval and support. A Committee reported that in one test run of 71 cows treated for mastitis, and which presented 14 pathological states (bacterial types), all "gave way to normal conditions" during the treatment". . .

'These consistent and highly meritorious results warranted the Department in undertaking the treatment of Johne's disease, long classed as incurable and heretofore 'treated' by the slaughter of all infected animals.' "Complete control was obtained by the administration of Koch's glyoxylide." With regard to mastitis, this was not only "completely cured . . . but there was a strong tendency for this greatly feared germ to disappear from the milk of the cow within a month. This point should be of interest to the public and to those responsible for the health of the public."

The British Columbia Veterinary Association passed a resolution highly favorable to the Koch treatment, based largely on regular annual reports since 1944 by the B.C. Dept. of Agriculture. The Department is inclined to agree with Dr. Koch's account of the basic physiological and biochemical reactions, and the Dairy Association of B.C. expressed strong approval and support of the whole K-treatment program. The D.O.A. Report points out that "all references to the use of the Koch treatment for cancer have been avoided, though many instances of the value of this have come within the purview" of those engaged - and ends with a sharp reproof to the Canadian Cancer Society, and by implication to the A.M.A., for their hostile and obstructive activities.

According to information at BSRA Hdqrs., between four and five thousand physicians in the United States are now using the Koch treatment, in varying degrees, for cancer and allied allergies. The press continues to ignore this or to print ignorant and vicious attacks, and A.M.A. doctors keep on repeating the same lies and stupidities which have been fed to the public for more than twenty years past. Only an enlightened public opinion can put an end to this intolerable situation. Ask your doctor, 'Do you belong to the A.M.A.? - 'If so, WHY?' and if you don't like his answer, tell him you will get assistance elsewhere.

PREDICTIONS BY
EDGAR CAYCE

AUG. 13, 1941

"Portions of the now East coast of New York, or New York City itself will in the main disappear. This will be in another generation, however, while the sinking of Carolina and Georgia will be much sooner. The waters of the Lakes will empty into the Gulf ... Then the area where the entity is now located (Virginia Beach, Va.) will be among the safety lands, as will be portions of what is now Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and much of Southern Canada. While the western land, much of that is to be disturbed."

(Question: Will Los Angeles be safe?). (Ans.) Los Angeles and San Francisco - most all of these will be destroyed, before New York even.

(Q. Should California or Virginia Beach be considered as the better place to live?) (A) These choices should be made rather within the self. Virginia Beach or the area is much safer as a definite place - but the choice must be made.

"Virginia Beach is the center and the only seaport and center of the White Brotherhood."

"Take this for what it may be worth" writes Assoc. Louis B. Thomas, (Wash. D.C.) who sends us the paragraphs quoted.

MEMO. FROM
BLOCK

A phenomenon of note - along with flying Discs, the HUNA achievements of Max Freedom Long, the versatility of Ralph M. Holland, the innumerable charts and pendulums of Dr. Brunler - and so-forth, fifth & sixth - is the relentless pursuit of all things get-at-able by Assoc. Edgar W. Block, who works marvels with seeds, plants, soils, flowers, fertilizers, fruits, and with radiesthesia applied to everything, and with biometric measurements (brain waves to us), and so much interesting and important other stuff that we really ought to print a whole extra Round Robin of Block-iana or-iania every month to do one-tenth justice to it. Now we have his very own comment on the MAGIC BAG Communicators, as follows:

"I have just received my copy of the Magic Bag and I think it is very remarkable. One should read it over and over. It may interest you to know what brain radiations I get for the various Intelligences and you may take this with a grain of salt too.

Thomas Carlyle 980 -- Lao-Tse 875 -- Maharajah Natcha 800 --
Michael Faraday 800 - Lo Sun Yat 655 - Ramon Natalli 645
Prof. Alfred Luntz 455 -- Arakashi 200 -- Mark Probert 200

Nobody knows how happy your BSR Director is, that he did NOT get in on that appraisal, with a score of, say, 75-minus. Mr. Napoleon Hill, we are reminded by Assoc. Block, wrote "Think and Grow Rich" and sold 100,000 copies of it; M.L. seems unable to do either of these things.

Yes, we have Assoc. Block's address; it's Indianola, Ill.

EDITOR, ROUND ROBIN:

Our Group in Mexico would be grateful for the insertion of the following note in Round Robin at your earliest convenience:

"Anyone interested in founding Oahsphe-type colony in South America, for rearing orphans and castaway children, write to Frank Kallenbach, Amsterdam 311A-3, Mexico, D.D.

May I add that we have read your publication with much interest for its fascinating and informative content; and more specifically, I had the pleasure of reading your frank and respectful article on Oahsphe.

Cordially - Harry L. Brochin
Francisco Marquez 109-114; Mexico, D.F.

We are in receipt of 1952 - THE YEAR OF CRISIS, a new booklet by WING ANDERSON. Some 80 pages, mostly very depressing, about the various forms, aspects and causes of the impending world debacle, especially as these have been seen by seers and prophets. As is usually (and naturally) the case with this kind of material, details of coming events are not very consistent with each other; the upshot seems to be that we are all of us in for a very bad time, but exactly what, where, when, and how remains for hard experience to teach us. We have thought somewhat of putting a "tail" on Wing, keeping a suitcase packed, and following him if or when he makes his last-minute exit - but maybe that wouldn't be cricket. Anyhow, the book sells for $1.00 and we doubt if you can get more grief for your money anywhere. (Kosmon Industries, 2208 W. 11th St. Los Angeles 6, Calif.).

Interesting if true: "The secret of the flying saucers will be made public early next spring." That gem of purest ray is from Danton Walker's column of Dec. 28 last, appearing in the Philadelphia Inquirer. (Assoc. Lavinia Bass, Phila.).

And columnist - commentator Drew Pearson has joined the Secret - Weapon fraternity; the Discs are OURS, and three cheers and a tiger! There are at least fifteen fatal objections to this stupidity - at the same time we greatly hope that our aircrafters have been able to learn something smart, useful, and effective against an enemy. . . . But since these craft are already perfected far beyond anything known; it's a great pity one or two of them can't be used where needed - Korea, for instance.

Interesting Note from our very active Associate M.N. (Iowa): "As a matter of record" he says, "compare the following:

1. Release 11-A-50, bottom of page 2 (BSRA): description of the huge craft seen overhead by Dr. Kappa: "It was spherical, highly luminous, and seemed to have bisecting axes (like a north-south and an east-west axis . . . the Thing revolved on its two axes independently of each other. It was somewhat like a gyroscope such as children play with, except that the frame of the toy would have to revolve too, and in an opposite direction. . . .

2. Abingdon Bible Commentary, on Ezekiel 1: 15-28: -- . . . A double wheel, sparkling like topaz, constructed of two wheels set at right angles about a common diameter, one in the north-south plane, the other in the west-east plane . . . their motion too is always due north, south, east or west. This would be impossible as a matter of engineering, but we are dealing here with a supernatural machine."

Both men, Dr. Kappa and the prophet Ezekiel, speak of a feeling of (1) intense heat (2) the noise or vibration of the machine, and (3) of the effects on their normal physical bodies (the prophet fell on his face and was afterward in a "stupor" for seven days).

(Page Drew Pearson, quick. We simply must know whether these "Things" were hallucinations, or secret weapons. And that reminds us - there was a hallucination - or "weapon" over northeastern Tibet, August 5th, 1927. Nicholas Roerich describes it, in his Altai-Himalaya (p.361):

"In the morning about half-past nine some of our caravaneers noticed a remarkably big black eagle flying above us. Seven of us began to watch this unusual bird. At this same moment another of our caravaneers remarked, 'there is something far above the bird. And he shouted in his astonishment. We all saw, in a direction from north to south, something big and shiny reflecting the sun, like a huge oval moving at great speed. Crossing our camp this thing changed in its direction from south to southwest, and we saw how it disappeared in the intense blue sky. We even had time to take our field glasses and saw quite distinctly an oval form with shiny surface, one side of which was brilliant from the sun."

Associate Harry B. Murphy sends us this reference, and remarks, "we have here a situation in which the observer received no suggestion from reading about flying discs in the newspapers."

(Anyone with time, strength, and optimism to contend with fools could quite easily compile a book-full of aerial craft or "secret weapons" reported long before modern air travel was dreamed of).

"If any of the Mark P. seance communications need confirmation, I surely can verify that one with regard to unusual wind, rain, and electrical storms this year. Everywhere in Germany where I travelled recently the same story was told of these tremendous storms. Trees were still lying along the streets and in the fields in many sections."

WATER BARREL
REVISITED

Concerning the mysterious chicken barrel at Simmons, Mo. - the one which failed no chicken, remained ever full and flowing yet was never refilled. The Mark Probert Controls, or one of them, said this oddity was a prank of a water Elemental. Mr. E. Cox, Jr., a psychic research investigator from Southern Pines, N.C., made two trips to investigate. On his second trip he found that the barrel had been tipped over (tho' not for the first time) and the refilling had not reoccurred. Under the circumstances he is willing to make the following statement only:

"My findings actually have not proven anything about the actions of the water, except that they apparently occurred in the absence of trickery, and that they are possibly 'paranormal'. Such paranormal nature will itself be difficult to analyze. There is nothing to be gained now by visiting the barrel, as it is no longer 'functioning' and so looks just like any other chicken barrel."

Furthermore, the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Orr, have had about enough of the Barrel and its devotees (reported at some fifty thousand in number); they have put up a high wire fence and seem quite willing to fill the barrel themselves, if filled it must be. We're not really flippant about this matter, of course. The facts seem well attested, there's no 'normal' way to account for them, so far, and investigator Cox has done a painstaking piece of work.

Oh, yes! "Brilliant white disc in the sky, horizontal in flight, over Oahu, 10:40 on Christmas Eve. No one knows what it was". (But we do, now! 'Twas a guided missile or else a thingumbob - or else wasn't there at all).

And if a 'brick' which isn't a brick - but some white translucent stuff comes in through your roof, send it to the Air Ministry for England. Top Brass is making a collection - though of what they can't decide. (We think they're secret weapons!)

And British archeologists, digging into a buried temple on the island of Cypress, reported to London (Nov. 30 last) that they had found a stone seal bearing a replica "of what was definitely a winged disc." Age of the seal, about 3000 years. (The winged disc is a common symbol, but this must have been different to merit a special report).

And S. Lyagunov, Russian scientist, thinks the huge 'meteorite' that exploded in Siberia in 1908 was really an interplanetary space ship. (No trace of meteoritic material has ever been found in the neighborhood of the explosion).

Three local residents of Gainesville who saw a huge "Saucer" about Dec. 2 last, said they were under "strict orders from Government officials to say nothing." -- Air pilots who see things that aren't there are said to be under similar instructions -- And D'ONT ask us for "proof" of Disc landings; ask the FBI - and much good may it do you!

DEFENDER MAGAZINE, violently disliked by many people for religious and political reasons, nevertheless is a valiant champion of two subjects of interest to BSR Associates: the 'reality' and importance of "flying discs" and similar phenomena, and the Koch Treatment for cancer and allied allergies. The December issue has a long review of Scully's book, Behind the Flying Saucers, couched in most favorable terms. Mr. Scully, as our readers may recall, gave considerable space to the "Etheric Hypothesis", which the BSR Director believes to be the correct one - though in a tone of mild derision.

The Defender editor remarks: "the zigzag course of handling publicity is regarded by observers as part of an intricate program to prepare America for an astounding revelation which will eventually set forth the truth about the discs. Some insist that the "Project Saucer" was set up not only to investigate but also to conceal the truth . . . Flying discs were observed decades before the first plane was invented . . . The strangest phenomenon in modern times . . . the author is ahead of what seems to be an intricately planned schedule for releasing information about the flying saucers."

Some such explanation of the long-continued fantastic cover-up on the part of the Air Force authorities must be accepted - unless we believe that these authorities are stupid beyond description and utterly incompetent for tasks entrusted to them. As for the people who are still befogged by moronic denials and "explanations", one can assume that they have no real knowledge of the mass and variety of the data involved. But anyone who does know the facts and still accepts the puerilities of the official 'investigations' is a mental defective too moronic to bother with.

Some time, maybe, we'll take an entire issue of Round Robin and fill it with current headlines and quotes and summaries of etheric craft and related phenomena, which come into our office from all over the United States and many foreign countries. Hundreds of thousands of people have seen these 'non-existent' things!

And if there's any other explanation besides the one offered by our publications, worth the paper it is printed on, we have yet to hear of it.

But let me say once again, that we claim only to have the correct basic explanation for the disc type of phenomenon, and the probable explanation for the host of related appearances and happenings. The subject is far from being a simple one. It partakes of the complexity of the universe we live in - the unseen worlds and 'planes' and the multi-form life which swarms in them. The word etheric stands for a reality, but the nature of that reality, if any man had full knowledge of it, could not be contained in a thousand books. Our readers must acquit us, then, of pretenses we do NOT make. The term etheric and Etheria is a key to a door and to many doors; the Ancients possessed it and our science is fumbling and groping for it. And "the occultism of today is the science of tomorrow . . . no phenomenon on any plane can be understood, by reference to the laws of that plane only."

Newspapers in England and Scotland are featuring flying disc phenomena in two-inch high headlines on their front pages. At first this was mainly a rehash from the American press, but now there are plenty of things happening over the tight little isle itself. "WE SAW SAUCERS OVER BRITAIN - SAY PEOPLE IN KENT STAFFORDSHIRE, OXFORDSHIRE, AND CHESHIRE -- THOUSAND OF LETTERS RECEIVED (by the Sunday Dispatch)."

"A circular disc travelling in the region of 700 m.p.h., altitude about 1500 ft... a good view for 15-20 seconds. It was lit with blue and orange-red flame..." -- This kind of thing covers the front pages and the English are not 'merrie' about it. And so far at least neither the Government nor the Royal Air Force has had the effrontery to tell some thousands of Englishmen that they are all fools or liars or psychopaths. That seems to go over better in the Land of the Free. Well, just thought I would mention it.

To recur to Defender Magazine and the Koch Treatment: One Dr. Adrian Nichols of St. Louis, Missouri, lately delivered an address at the annual convention of the Christian Medical Research League in Detroit, in which he explained the use of the Koch therapy in treating Poliomyelitis and gave various case histories. Defender prints the text of this address, including affidavits. The picture of the ravages of polio is a terrible one, but it could be largely avoided if the public and the proper authorities could be made to realize "the part the Polio Foundation takes in belittling the only remedy there is today, the Koch therapy ... and continues to collect large sums of money from people who believe that the medical profession can do no wrong."

It is a terrible thing to say, and yet a true one - that the medical profession in its official attitudes and policies, particularly the American Medical Association with its all-powerful lobbies, its intolerance, greed and viciousness, and its opposition to every proposal benefitting the public health and welfare (as the record shows, and as has been detailed in addresses in the Senate and House), comes close to being PUBLIC ENEMY NUMBER 1 - disputing this hellish distinction only with the criminal types of communistic propaganda and sabotage. -- And of honest, self-sacrificing and competent physicians there are many, and many who detest 'official' medicine and all its ways - yet so far as they too submit to this tyranny, we cannot hold them quite blameless, or wholly honest, or forgetful of their Hippocratic Oath.

PAVLOF - ANIAKCHAK - TULIK - SHISHALDIN - MAGEIK - NOVARUPTA - KNIFE - MARTIN - KATMAI - Titans and Giants are they, and your neighbors and mine, of ilk and kin of these better known to us - of Cotopaxi, Mauna Loa, Aetna, Vesuvius, Hecla, Popocatepetl, Krakatoa, and Shasta: long-slumbering. Sons of Vulcan all of them, many are wakening and stirring; some Vulcanalia has been proclaimed; the God is summoning them to revels of thunder and subterranean fire. Throughout the 600-mile length of the Alaskan peninsula, "beneath smoking peaks and steaming fumaroles, gases are building up tremendous pressures, swirling in pools of molten lava and seeking a vent." In September the 8900-foot Mt. Pavlof was belching smoke 20,000 feet into the air. Fine ash covered the earth for a distance of thirty miles - "a minor eruption". Knife Mountain opens a black crater, spouts smoke and acrid fumes. Shishaldin, rising more than 9000 feet above Unimak, is active.

"The 3-million-acre Katmai National Monument is studded with active volcanoes such as Knife, Mageik, Novarupta, and Martin". Only Katmai seems stilled forever. In its great crater is a green lake eight miles in diameter - yet in 1912 it was the scene of "the world's greatest eruption." The whole peninsula was clouded with smoke, the cabins of natives were buried to the roofs, and ash fell a foot deep on ships at sea. But at the moment Pavlof holds the center of the stage; it erupted in 1922 and 1937, now rings of smoke and steam are rising over its snowy slopes. . . "In 1945 Mt. Tulik erupted. Authorities at the army base on Unmak Island 60 miles distant prepared to evacuate when the huge peak disintegrated. Planes were unable to approach. Lumps of volcanic ash heated to 1000 degrees centigrade were thrown 1000 feet into the air above the 8-mile-wide crater." . . .

Volcanologists said "1950 will be the year for the big blast" - but the year has come and gone, and the Gods of Earth and Fire make no appointments with mortals. But "The Volcanoes Declare War" wrote Professor Jagger; and when these make an end of truce-keeping perhaps the wars of nations will be no more than the buzz of angry bees or the drone of stinging gnats. *

AND ASSOCIATE L.K.D. DREAMED A DREAM.

That was partly because Co-Director Max Freedom Long asked him to. That is, Director Long asked everybody to report prophetic dreams, in the interests both of HUNA and of BSR studies, and Assoc. DKD complied, and we almost wish he hadn't - but here is part of his notes on it.

"On the morning of Friday December 1 I caught myself dreaming in what seemed to be a future state, but in the dream I remembered what Max had said, and began to cast about for a newspaper to give me the date, and found one of August 17, 1956. Then many things began to come to me intuitively. I felt that the paper was not a daily but a holiday edition, for August 17, a special day in the New Order of things. And no one was worried about atomic bombs and wars because they were things of the past - but their effects were not past.

"Apparently I was in a center of culture of what was left of our Western civilization -- and one little item in the paper reported that a woman and her three children had recently come in from . . . in a half-starved condition, and that a fourth child was dead on arrival. This last phrase was required by law and revealed one of the most drastic results of the A and H bombs. The sovereign nation of California had the authority to effect mercy deaths on children born deformed by A or H bomb radiation . . . As for the general population, I knew in my dream that most of them were very young, even mere children - which would indicate that these had withstood the ravages of radiation and bacteriological warfare better than had the adults.

"The date of August 17 interested me, because I believe that it is August 20, 1952, when the time line of the great pyramid runs out.

"I believe that a 'ham' radio set is an excellent project for many BSR Associates - and for Wing Anderson's group as well - because what is left of authority will want to confiscate all amateur stations to their own use. The sets should be portable so that they can be moved quickly from their place of registration --

"My present first reply to the Project Survival idea, is to report that sink or swim, burn or freeze, I am going to stay with Los Angeles County ... where I have begun buying a home. ... But I shall not be particularly concerned at not surviving, because those who do not may be the lucky ones anyway."

We're a little distressed, of course, at this partisan spirit of preferring Los Angeles County to San Diego (where smog is high fog only); but then, the whale may sail with swinging tail over both places before many years have passed. Seriously, however, unless you are in a specially bad spot, an obvious target area, or flood area, it's probably better to stay where you are. At any rate, do not get forced onto the roads and into enormous traffic jams with no definite place to go or means of subsistence. And at first signs of panic all traffic may be frozen and martial law or rigid police control everywhere. And remember that it is the policy of the enemy within to create panic and displacement - the saboteur may be more dangerous than the foreign foe. Scores of European cities have been devastated, not once but many times; let us hope that the stamina and good sense of the American people will not be found inferior.

The truly prophetic dream is of course a fact, like many other forms of forecasting, and worthy of much study. Only, how to winnow wheat from chaff, true prevision from that which only seems true? For most of us this is a post factum process only. But it may be a source of satisfaction, even on the astral plane, to be able to say, "I told you so." (That's where all our BSR Associates will shine with no diminished light!).

..... "The 18th century fought four world wars, the 17th fought three, the 16th century was a whirlpool of almost unceasing war, the man of 1815 looked back through 25 years of world-wide was ended by Waterloo. This panic is individual, personal and private ... it is fear, not of tomorrow, but of the day after, and that is its danger - for the fear of death can keep us from living. There is the old question: if you knew you were to die day after tomorrow, what would you do tomorrow? Only one answer has ever been sensible - just what I would do if I did not know - go to the office, take the children to the park, get married, buy the house, have a baby. All other answers would be folly, and the most foolish of all would be: I would spend my last 24 hours at the bottom of an abandoned mine. . . Life makes out its own price tag . . . "Fellow countrymen, we cannot escape history" - Lincoln said that .....

(Bernard Devoto, in Woman's Day)

QUESTION: Consider the case of a man who has lived to advanced years, so that what are called the lower desires of mind-and-body are dead in him - not through any merit or desire or effort of his own, but simply because of the processes of age --

CONTROL* (interrupting): The reason such desires are, as you say, dead, is to be found in auto-and heterosuggestion. The mind of man, that is, of the group, has indoctrinated the individual with the idea that certain desires and the power of the body to respond to them must die out with 'advancing years'. But desires never die out, unless and until they are replaced by a stronger desire - which amounts to a greater desire to be rid of them.

QUESTION: And when such an individual dies - ?

CONTROL: Every desire which has not been overcome by the greater desire I referred to, will continue to exist in the after-death life. Hope, fear, love, passion, greed, desire for power all continue. Death does not slay them. Only the desire to grow, to evolve, to transmute desires and forces can cause them to disappear. As to sex, it is one of the weaknesses of spiritualism that it ignores and glosses over (as if indecent) the fact of the persistence of sex desires in the after-life. Sex force, the Kundalini force, is basic to all psychic energies. The problem is not to suppress or destroy it, but to transmute it into other forms. This transmutation can be effected whenever the 'other forms' are seen to be more desirable - when the higher desire and hence the will goes to work at the task.

QUESTION: But, now, consider the case of, say, a drug addict. He may truly and passionately desire to escape the bonds of habit, but his body will not permit him. The suffering of the body is so great, when deprived of the drug, that the 'higher' desire is beaten down by it.

CONTROL: The consciousness of each tiny cell of the body is dominated by the suggestion that the drug is necessary - that is, that it is a 'good' and deprivation an 'evil'. Hence the revolt and the suffering. The physical body is lost at death, but the fixed idea is not lost, and the entity still has a body, and the hypnotic spell continues its sway. * * * * *

---

CONTROL: Yes? What is it? QUESTION: I said nothing - did you catch my thought? I was on the point of asking you, is there such a thing as a timeless experience? **

CONTROL: Yes, there is. QUESTION: But it seems to me that a time - less experience would be undifferentiated, and hence not an experience at all--

CONTROL: It may not be differentiated on the level of brain-consciousness, yet still be experience.

QUESTION: Let us suppose a continuous sound, one that went on 'forever and ever' all one's life, and without fluctuation. I suppose one would not be aware of such a sound at all. Would that be an example of what you mean? One would become aware only of the stopping of such a sound. Would you still call such a sound, an experience?

CONTROL: It is to be called an experience because it exists - and exists in consciousness, though not in consciousness at the brain level - and because under hypnosis a memory and knowledge of it can be revived. It is an experience by a larger Self and is registered by that Self, but there is no change in it, hence nothing to distinguish it or to show a flow or motion in it, so the brain consciousness is not aware of it.

NOTE CONCERNING THE FOREGOING MATERIAL:

* The notes are not verbatim, but are a summary of an 8-10 minute discussion. Yada di Shi'ite, the Rajah Natcha, and Professor Luntz all communicated on this occasion, but some confusion in my notes (ML) makes it difficult to identify the Control responsible for separate remarks - and in this instance identification does not seem very important.

Concerning 'timeless experience', in addition to the hypothetical sound one might mention the pressure of air on the body, the pull (or push) of gravity, the magnetism of the earth, cosmic rays and many other continuous but unperceived energy-factors in our environment. Light (and darkness) are experienced by brain consciousness only by means of their termini or alternations; space is not perceived at all, but is (for us) a postulated somewhat marked out by objects. Magnetic and electrical fields, radio waves, innumerable emanations and radiations are in incessant fluctuation; i.e., they are permanent factors of our environment but by no means changeless. We do not perceive them because of the limitations of our sensory apparatus. They are timeless so far as our brain-consciousness is concerned, but apparently the Controls would rate them as "experience" - and the argument from hypnosis sounds like a good one, IF hypnosis can indeed go as deep as this. For it is not a question here of recalling a forgotten experience, but of bringing into consciousness an "experience" which was never in brain-awareness at all.

** It is a common occurrence for the Controls to pick up any intent and concentrated thinking by the sitters.

All questions put to the Controls are by M.L.

- CHRISTMAS 1950 -

A FLYING DISC flits across the wintry skies, as before out of the mirror of the azure blue. From whence comest thou? Whither goest thou, O Speed-King of the Phenomenal Flux?

Hast thou peered into the Infinite, in thy journeys throughout the universe? Hast thou known that this atomic ball is at out - balance with the visible and invisible Cosmos?

In thy mystic spiral descent into the world of war, thou has seen through the circular fire's sucked from the smudge and ether in the by-passing of suns! Hast thou seen also, and considered a certain personage named Good Old Joe, with clinched fist, hammer, and sickle, whose mandate is anti-democratic, and whose errand is the balancing of this sphere's influence - by the atomising of our modern civilization?

O Fireball from the Immobile Immensities, thou hast been seen in every part of this cock-eyed world - and from whence didst thou aggregate, and what is thy mission here? Hast thou to do with this world's plexed dream of life and peace, and knowest thou our Dictators' desire for world domination? Art thou sent here on errand as a Thwarter, by the War Lord of Space, to spy out the handiwork of the Kneader of mud shapes called men, whose brain is a poisonous fungus, and to assail aught which hinders their march through human blood to the Pot of Gold at the foot of the Rainbow of Death - forever unintended and unkenned?

Art thou here to stall the iron hooves of the War Mongers, who would feed the millions into the maw of hell to satisfy their seven deadly delights - to halt aggression with aggression, thus wrenching themselves in the screws?

Has at last the Great Manumission arrived, the complete collapse of Nations, all of those who must suck their dugs in the dust. Why should we laugh or weep? Let all Humanity gather her bones and cremate them forever in the stream of atomic dust, consumed in immemorial fires

Speed on, thou Flying Disc, thou of the Kerubim, past the pallid horizons. Be silent of what thou seest beyond and behind the Iron Curtain of Time -

There resteth the Temple of Human Skulls - the Temple of the United Nations of Death!

CONCERNING SEANCE REPORTS ("MEMORANDA OF THE M.P. SEANCES"):

BSRA Hdqrs. have printed Nos. 1 to 13 inclusive of these booklets. We cannot, however, guarantee to have all of these on hand at any time, or to have any particular issue on hand. We have copies of six issues in stock at this writing, and are trying to get reprints of the others.

The preparation and handling of these Reports (or Memoranda) has become too much of a burden for our limited facilities, so that it is doubtful whether we shall print Report XIV, or any other numbers beyond that. Please do not send us advance orders for these unprinted issues.

The place of the Reports will be taken by a new series, called EXCERPTS FROM THE MARK PROBERT SEANCES. These are prepared under the supervision of RR. Assoc, Editor Harriet P. Foster, with the cooperation of local BSR Associates, and of a friend in Salt Lake City who attends to the mimeographing. This group is designated as the INNER CIRCLE PRESS. Mail addressed to Mrs. Foster or to the Inner Circle Press should be sent in care of BSRA Hdqrs., 3524 Adams Ave., San Diego, 16, Calif.

The material published in the EXCERPTS is drawn from stenographic transcripts of the 1950 meetings. The first booklet, of 37 pages should be ready for mailing in a few days. Price $1.50, plus sales tax in Calif.

Please bear in mind that these EXCERPTS do not reproduce the material of the Reports mentioned above, nor the material printed in the TRANSCRIPTS. The latter are sent out by BSRA Hdqrs on a subscription basis, ($5.00 per yr., 10-12 nos.), and consist of 8-10 mimeo pages, not bound, of recent seance communications (via Mark Probert). These TRANSCRIPTS also include occasional reports from other sources, notably from the etheric experiences of "DR. KAPPA", a highly gifted occultist and clairvoyant.

Please be careful to distinguish between these three publications, and specify whether you want (1) Seance Reports (also called Memoranda) (2) the new series called Excerpts, or (3) the Transcripts. If it is No. 1 of these, please reread paragraph 1 above, and send $1.50 per copy, with 10% off for BSR Associates. If No. 2 is wanted (Excerpts), send $1.50 per copy and address Inner Circle Press, C/ BSRA, 3524 Adams Ave., San Diego 16, Calif. If you want No. 3 (Transcripts), send $5.00 for 1 yr. (10-12 nos.) or $2.50 for 6 months (5-6 nos.), and address BSRA Hdqrs.

THE MAGIC BAG - PART I - 64 pp. (6 3/4 x 9 1/4 in.); mimeo., paper cover, neatly bound. Now available @ $2.00. Contains 17 pp. of introductory matter & 14 chapters by the Controls Lo Sun Yat, Prof. Luntz, Arakashi, Ramon Natalli, Lao-Tse, Yada Di Shi'ite, Maharajah Natcha, Michael Faraday, Thomas Carlyle, on philosophical, occult, and scientific subjects. Photograph of Mark Probert. Section II of this book is now being dictated by the Controls and contains highly important material. Orders for Part II will be filed and filled in sequence when the printing is complete - but please do NOT send money until notified.
